CCSSO reached out this afternoon on behalf of the Oklahoma Commissioner of Education. The POLITICO report on ED's internal discussion on firearm purchases mentions requests from Texas and Oklahoma, but Commissioner Hofmeister is unaware of a request from either her office or a local superintendent's office. She is requesting a confirmation from us on the Oklahoma request, so she can appropriately address calls flooding into her office.

Alternatively, if we do not have confirmation, she would like to be able to deny the state's involvement. This is time-sensitive, so a quick response would be greatly appreciated.

Best,
Adam

Message: Hello President Trump, my name is Charles McMahan and I am the Superintendent of a small rural school in Oklahoma grades pre-K thru 12th. We have implemented an armed staff policy at my school and was wandering if there is any money or grants that could help with our training. We have a very strict policy with qualification standards set above the Oklahoma CLEET standards. To date I have attended the Ohio FASTER program at TDI and will be going back this summer for level II. I have also been able to attend two ALERRT (Advanced Law Enforcement Rapid Response Trainings)held at my former school. Oklahoma Education budget is very thin so all of the training comes out of our own pocket. I am all for protecting our students and attending as much training as I can but it would be great if there was some money for schools that arm and train their staff. Last year I personally spent over $4000 out of my pocket for training ammo alone and then their is the training expenses and a weapon. Anything would help at this point. Thank you for your time and PLEASE keep up the great work of Making America Great Again!

Hi. I am not able to locate incoming letters based on the subject referenced, funding for Title IV Part A, or coming from Texas. If anyone can please provide the dates of the incoming letters and/or a specific signatory from Texas so I may have more parameters to search. I am adding leadership in OSHS to assist.

Thanks.

Luz, please see below. Do you have copies of the email and letter Bill referenced? If so, please send to this group

I think the inquiries from Texas came by email rather than letter, and there's a letter from a superintendent in OK that initially was assigned to Budget Service but then recontrolled to OESE.
